

MINISTER'S SON UP FOR FORGERY

Philip L. Germond, Whose Father Is Rev. Philip Germond, Accused of Having Passed Bogus Checks in Many Cities.

SERVED A TERM IN TOMBS.

His Father Intended that He Should Be a Lawyer, but the Young Man Has Been Wayward Almost from His Childhood.

Had Philip L. Germond expended the same amount of energy and resourcefulness in honest employment that he did in forgery he would not have been a prisoner in Jefferson Market Police Court to-day with a long term of imprisonment staring him in the face and his family would not have been heart-broken over his preference for a career of crime.

His father, the Rev. Philip Germond, pastor of the Chelsea M. E. Church in West Thirtieth street, lost track of him months ago, and knew nothing of his whereabouts until he heard of his arrest to-day.

Germond is twenty-five years old, handsome and the possessor of an engaging personality. He has a good education, and it was the desire of his father that he should become a lawyer. He was a wayward youth and before reaching his majority spent a sixty-day term in the Tombs for petty larceny.

It is the belief of those who know him that this Tombs experience was what started him on the road to making forgery a profession. Three years ago he was sent to Elmira for passing a bogus check in a Broadway candy store.

Career as a Forger.
Upon his release from Elmira Reformatory he began an amazing series of forgeries that resulted in complaints against him from every large city east of Chicago. There are twenty specific complaints against him on file at Police Headquarters. He worked so rapidly and so skillfully that it took Detective Sergeant Kiernan nearly four months to close in on his trail.

The first definite trace of him reached New York from St. Louis in December, 1902. In company with a woman, said to be his wife, he registered at a hotel in that city and passed a bogus check for $175. This was on Dec. 8. Eleven days later he passed a check for $500 in the Metropolitan Hotel in Denver.

From Denver he went to Fulton, Neb., and in that little place forged a check for $800, purporting to bear the signature of Assistant Secretary of War George D. Michelson. Evidently this equipped him with funds for a time, for he was not heard of again until March 7, when he passed a bad check for $500 in a Sixth avenue dry goods store.

On March 24 he passed a $400 check in the Arlington Hotel, at Washington, and four days later he walked into a wholesale house in Boston, bought $300 worth of goods, presented a check for $700, and got the balance in cash.

Forgeries in Hartford.
With the proceeds of this swindle secure Germond skipped to Hartford, Conn., and the very next day persuaded the proprietor of the Allen House to cash a $150 check. It was here that Kiernan, who had been following him all over the East, got directly on his trail. From Hartford Germond went to Atlantic City, and on May 7 forged two checks for $250 each on the Safe Deposit and Trust Co. of Washington. These checks he cashed at the Windsor Hotel. Kiernan got to Atlantic City about two hours after he had skipped, and traced him to Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he was arrested yesterday.

The woman who accompanied him to New York with Kiernan. She appears to be prostrated by the knowledge that Germond has been making a living by passing bad checks. Germond refused to make any statement when brought to Headquarters.

COURT HEARS CASE AGAINST POOL-ROOM.

Justice Fleming Sits as a Committing Magistrate in the Fight on Cottage Social Club.

For the first time in the history of Queens County a Justice of Special Sessions sat to-day as a committing magistrate when Justice Fleming presided at a hearing into the conduct of the Cottage Social and Athletic Club, of No. 23 Borden avenue, an alleged pool-room.

The police of Long Island City have made several futile efforts to raid the place, but were unsuccessful as the club, through its counsel, had several of Capt. Conroy's detectives put under bonds to keep the peace. The detectives had interfered with members of the club going in and out. The bonds under which these detectives were placed are so worded that if they create any disturbance in the neighborhood of the Cottage Social and Athletic Club they are called upon to arrest themselves as offenders against the law.

Justice Fleming had a score of witnesses before him to-day from whom he endeavored to obtain evidence upon which to base a warrant with which the police would be enabled to raid the club. The organization's attorney is making a persistent fight, and up to the present a successful one, against the police.

Col. Haskin Comes to Daughter's Wedding.

Other passengers on the steamer were Col. G. Eyer, W. Merchant, C. B. Stevens and C. G. Wright.

NEW GIANT HOTEL ON UPPER BROADWAY.

To Be Erected on the Sturtevant Site and Leased for $150,000 a Year.

Plans are under way for a new twelve-story hotel on the site of the present Sturtevant House at Twenty-ninth street and Broadway. It already has been leased by James H. Breslin at $50,000 a year.

The Sturtevant House, one of the oldest of New York's noted hotels, was bought last February by the United States Realty and Construction Company, from John B. and Albert P. Sturtevant. It had been quoted at $1,200,000, and the price was said to be not far from that figure.

The site was acquired by John D. Sturtevant in 1873. It fronts 106 feet on Broadway and 175.2 on Twenty-ninth street, and contains 15,500 square feet. The building covering this plot is a six-story structure, seven adjoining houses used in connection with it by its late proprietors were not included in the sale.

The new Sturtevant House will be erected for Mr. Breslin by the United States Realty and Construction Company.
